Family Child Care: The Language of Art

Are you looking to boost the creativity of the children in your care? Join our Community of Practice on the Language of Art, designed exclusively for educators in family child care settings. Get involved in hands-on activities, discussions, and idea exchanges to easily bring art into your home-based care. Participate in our monthly training sessions that create a supportive environment for everyone. You'll learn new ways to inspire creativity in young children, develop inquiry-based art projects, and discover how to document their artistic journeys. Between trainings, take home materials to try out in your program, ensuring practical application of what you've learned. Address the unique opportunities and challenges of home-based care with activities that work for smaller, mixed-age groups. Enhance your teaching skills and build a lively, creative learning environment! This COP will be led by Abigail Black with the assistance of Darice Hancock and Trish Kite-Hannon.
